Did you know? The Melon Bud flatware in this set comes from Gorham, one of the most iconic silver companies in the world. Founded in 1831 by Jabez Gorham in Providence, Rhode Island, Gorham would become the world's leading force for silver, dominating American silver production during the Gilded Age of the 1890s. During their almost 190 years in business, Gorham has produced such treasures as the tea and flatware service purchased by Mary Todd Lincoln for the White House, the monument of George Washington in the Capitol's Rotunda, and the Borg-Warner Trophy for the Indianapolis 500. And, of course, the flatware set that's now on your table.
